PLUST Collection
INDOOR/OUTDOOR
COLLECTION 2011

The PLUST Collection introduces new furnishings and furnishing accessories at the International Furniture Salon of 2011, created for indoor and outdoor environments.

Talea, designed by Architect Marco Zito, is an armchair that has many combinations, which takes its name from a branch that is regenerated when it is planted in the ground. Talea, thanks to a simple central notch, is transformed into a comfortable fabric armchair, or by inserting a wooden level, it becomes a bench with a variable number of seats.*

Gumball Sofa and Gumball Sunlounge Alberto Brogliato introduces the latest creations of the Gumball family. The first proposal is a two-seat sofa with a sinuous and comfortable shape, perfect to create the right atmosphere in public areas. The second is a sunlounge designed for swimming pools, spas, terraces and gardens... Its structure permits correct and comfortable posture and it is characterised by clean lines, which make it an elegant contemporary furnishing accessory that can be integrated with a variety of furnishing contexts.*

Godot is a clothes stand, again designed by Alberto Brogliato, which is characterised by a totem-like and informal look. Godot is a curious product, with a personality and harmony that makes clear reference to a natural and fantastic world. Equipped with a central pocket emptier and coloured interchangeable appendixes, it can be adapted very simply to private spaces or public places, such as waiting rooms or hotel foyers.*

Lapsus, signed by Eddy Antonello and Alberto Fabbian, is a freestanding clothes hanger reminiscent of the typical succulent plants of the desert. It has six hangars and is a decorative, yet functional product; the metal base allows for good stability on the ground.*

All PLUST Collection products are in low-density polyethylene (LDPE) and are moulded with the rotomoulding technology.
